SacTown VegFest Returns in January 2017!

SVS invites you to be a sponsor of SacTown VegFest 2017, the Sacramento area's first and only 100%-vegan veg festival. Our one-day celebration of plant-based living will take place on Saturday, January 28, from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M., at Sacramento Charter High School (2315 34th Street, Sacramento).

SacTown VegFest 2016, was a great success—attracting over 1,100 people who represented a broad cross-section of Sacramento's diverse communities. By building on that initial turnout in a much larger space, STVF 2017 will have lots of room to grow. We'll feature an even wider variety of food vendors, exhibitors, speakers, and activities that cover the richness of plant-based living, and ways to easily and effectively incorporate those benefits into our lives. We will also greatly expand the children's area as the young (and their families) are an ongoing focus of STVF.

Together we can make STVF 2017 a celebratory event that is free to the public, child friendly, will have a positive impact in the community, and will offer families and individuals plenty of options for healthier, compassionate, sustainable living.

Please take a look at the attached sponsorship form (it's a fillable PDF), and return it at your earliest convenience. Please get in touch with any questions or comments. We look forward to hearing from you.

For the Organizing Committee,

Glenn Destatte
President, Sacramento Vegetarian Society
